Forum Rules:

Before you get started, please be sure you become familiar with the following rules:

1. Please be respectful to all users
Acting unnecessarily rude or treating other users poorly will result in a ban.

2. Please do not spam or send large/unrelated images within posts or signatures

Please do not send consecutive messages within the same thread; in many scenarios editing your previous message will suffice. Furthermore, please do not send unnecessarily large images. Make sure signatures do not contain large images also.

3. Anything illegal is forbidden

The forums are held responsible for content posted, so please think about it before posting!

4. No advertising

Do not use the forums as a platform for advertising. Any links to unrelated services will result in a ban!

5. Do not troll, flame, or send messages in all caps

This is not the place for arguments or trolling; please take it somewhere else. Furthermore, please do not send messages with bizarre formatting. This includes, but is not limited to, messages with all caps, messages contained completely in spoilers or codes, or messages with text colors.

6. No posting of personal information

Please do not post personal information about yourself or other users.

7. Do not ask to become a mod

If mods are needed, people found to be appropriate for the job will be contacted. Asking to become a mod only decreases your chances.

8. Keep things relevant

Please remain on topic in all forums threads!

Thank you for reading!
